TO:

Chief Reports Officer

FROM:

Chief, Reports Control

SUBJECT:

- 1. The proper intelligence exploitation of aerial photography requires both specialized processing of the film and the services of trained photo interpreters. The newly established Photographic Intelligence Center, DD/I, has both the equipment and the trained people. On a trial basis PIC has indicated its willingness to undertake support involving processing where necessary and technical and intelligence appraisal of aerial photographs collected by the Clandestine Services. PIC normally does not function as a repository for photography. However, the Graphics Register, OCR, does provide photo storage and research facilities and is willing to provide the special service required for suitable storage and recall of the serial photographs. They will provide reproductions from the original material for customers in the intelligence community.
- 2. Aerial photographs received by the divisions will be disseminated in accordance with the following procedure:
- a. Film and/or prints will be forwarded to PIC under cover of a Request for PIC service (Sample of form attached. Until form is available from building supply offices a memo or typed copy of the
